GRACE REALS, in "MRS. TEMPLE'S TELEGRAM."

"Mrs. Temple's Telegram."

The mirth-provoking and uproariously funny farce, "Mrs. Temple's Telegram," which had a successful run at the Madison Square Theatre, New York, will be the attraction at the Paris Grand tonight.

If you are interested as to whether a husband is ever justified in telling his wife a lie, go and see "Mrs. Temple's Telegram" and have your curiosity appeased. The charm of the piece, however, lies in the acting and rarely has a more finished piece of work been seen than the Frank Fuller of Allan Murnane. He takes the reins of comedy in hand upon his entrance, and from then on holds them. In the hands of a less capable actor than Harry Connor, Wigson, the butler, would have been a bore, but it is a pleasure to see him for his every move and speech is interesting. Miss Grace Reals as "Mrs. Temple" has a difficult task in making an impossibly, glib character interesting, but her personality will aid materially in her labor.

Mrs. Temple's Telegram is bright, clean and free from all suggestiveness. This play has won the distinction of being the most emphatic comedy success of the season. The company is one of the most evenly-balanced and uniformly clever that has been seen in a comedy in a long time. There is no straining after effect, no squeezing for a laugh, no buffooning for applause, but straight, serious effect that is most telling and effective.

Mrs. Minnie Wright, who has been the pleasant guest of her aunt, Mrs. Mary Stivers, of this city, left for her home Sunday. Mr. Parris was born near Ruddles Mills, this county, and celebrated his 87th birthday last week. While Mr. Parris' hair is snow white from his advanced age he is alert and active as many men of sixty, and frequently walks distances of more than a mile.

Mrs. Parris was born in Fayette county and was a daughter of Kozelle P. Stivers, who before the war, resided near Stony Point, this county. Mrs. Parris spends most of her time in reading. Mr. and Mrs. Parris have eight living children, 36 grand children and 14 great grandchildren.

County Primary Called For May Twenty-First.

The Democratic County Committee met Saturday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, in pursuance to call of Chairman James H. Thompson. The meeting was called for the purpose of determining the manner of selecting candidates for the offices of County Clerk and Representative in the Legislature. In the absence of Secretary Blanton Holt, Attorney Wm. Grannon was selected Secretary pro tem.

After a general discussion as to the political situation and outlook in the county the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

"Resolved, That a primary election be held by the Democratic party in Bourbon county, Kentucky, on the 21st day of May, 1907, for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Representative from Bourbon county in the General Assembly, and also to nominate a Democratic candidate for the office of Clerk of the County Court, both of said candidates to be voted for at the regular November election in 1907.

"Resolved, That said primary election be held in all respects in accordance with the primary election law now in force in the State of Kentucky.

"Resolved, That all known Democrats possessing the qualifications of legal voters be invited and permitted to participate in said election.

"Resolved, That the expense of holding said election, which is now estimated at the sum of three hundred and fifty dollars be apportioned as follows:

"The candidates for Representatives shall pay the sum of $175.00, which shall be divided equally among the candidates for said office.

"The candidates for County Clerk shall pay the sum of $175.00, which shall be equally divided among all candidates for said office.

"Any known Democrat possessing the statutory qualifications for either of said offices may become a candidate at said primary by notifying the Secretary of this Committee in writing of his intention and by depositing with said Secretary the sum of money required under this resolution to be paid by such candidate, fifteen days before the date of said Primary.

"Resolved, That if there is only one candidate for either or both of said offices at noon on the sixth day of May, 1907, such candidate shall be declared the nominee of said office."

Committeemen H. O. James and Whittington Mann were appointed to make all arrangements for the primary.

A DEADLY QUARREL.

Homer Wilson Shoots "Pink" Macom, With Fatal Results.

Homer Wilson and Ed ("Pink") Macom, both colored, became involved in a difficulty Saturday evening, about 7:30 o'clock, on Main street, between Seventh and Eighth, resulting in Wilson drawing his gun and firing five times at Macom, inflicting a fatal wound. One ball entered Macom's abdomen, perforating the bowels, and one grazed the back of his neck, three went through M. J. Woods show window, breaking a number of bottles of liquor, and the ball that grazed his neck lodged in Woods' front door.

Macom was carried to Dr. Brown's office near by and shortly afterwards taken to his home in a buggy, where he was operated on by Drs. Kenney and Brown. He lingered until yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock, when he died.

It is said that Wilson approached Macom and said, "If you beat up my aunt again you will have to beat me up." Macom replied that he could do that easy enough and made demonstrations like he was going to proceed to do it when Wilson fired five times in rapid succession.

Chief of Police Hill was near the scene of the difficulty at the time and grabbed Wilson, he having made no effort to escape, and took him to jail. Wilson is employed at the Link Grocery Company, and it is said took the pistol he used, a .44 calibre, from the show case at the grocery, where it was usually kept by Mr. Link.

The street at this point was, as usual on Saturday nights, crowded with negroes, and it is a great wonder some bystander was not shot. In the scramble of the crowd to get out of the way of the bullets some one dropped an alarm clock, and the owner can get same by calling on Chief Hill.

Cattle Burned To Death.

Late Saturday afternoon two of the largest barns at Grassmere, the celebrated Warfield Stock Farm, in Fayette county, were totally destroyed by fire, eight valuable shorthorn cattle were burned to death, and feed to the value of $500 was also consumed. The loss is roughly estimated at $3,500.

Japan's Poverty.

War talk continues. Authority after authority—supposedly so—has advised immediate preparation, alleging our own unpreparedness and Japan's ambition to rule the Orient as reasons why we are soon to be the object of attack. A little study, however, will show that Japan is absolutely in no condition to go to war, no matter how ambitious, how impulsive her people are.

Japan is impoverished. Deeply in debt to England, and several other nations, including the United States, she is in no shape to take care of new obligations, as she must do to enter into war. She cannot indeed, give the slightest encouragement to large money lenders that any further obligations can be paid without reducing the whole country to extreme poverty. Recent reports indicate that Japan's desires are far outstripping her resources. The people are already groaning under the weight of taxation, which is to be enlarged by the new budget. Sixty millions more than last year are asked, and the total amount is twice as large as was required before the war with Russia. Japan lost a good many soldiers in the war, and that is another reason why she must go slow, regardless of her impulses.

The Japanese are patient. They may want to go to war with the United States, but if they cannot go soon they are very willing to bide their time.

They should be watched no less because they are poor, but no one need fear that they will declare war against the United States until they have money enough to make some kind of a showing.

Beefsteak, Backbone and Bigamy

Two widely varying, though paradoxically analogous, causes for crime have appeared lately, and have been placed on the records for the wonder of future generations. One is advanced by a Philadelphia woman who claims that the odor of beefsteak compels her to steal, and the other by an Ohio preacher who married 13 wives because of some peculiar affection of the spinal column.

Just how these innocent causes bring on criminal effects is not clear. There is no doubt that the odor of some foods makes people feel like fighting, but fighting, but fighting cannot be called a crime in the sense that stealing is. The lady who has to go out and steal something every time she smells a beefsteak should be kept away from fried onions or there will be murder in her immediate neighborhood. As to the diseased spinal column as related to bigamy, the connection is made less visible because as a usual thing it takes a man of considerable backbone to marry one woman, whereas this man claims that because his is soft he was compelled to marry 13. This excuse will hardly do. If his backbone is good enough to permit his entrance into wedlock 13 times, it is strong enough to carry the burden of his harems' support, and the jury that tries him will do well to fix thus his punishment. As to the lady who steals whenever she smells beefsteak, let her be fed on beef constantly until her soul revolts at the very sight of it. That will cure her.

Simply a Coincidence.

Announcement that John D. Rockefeller has given $2,000,000 to the General Board of Education was immediately followed by notification of increase in the price of oil. Of course, this was simply a coincidence, but so decided was the increase in the price of oil that the American people are wondering whether John D. or they denote the $2,000,000.

Of course Mr. Rockefeller's gift was princely. It was larger than that of any single gift by an American millionaire to any cause or purpose whatever.

It brought the total of Mr. Rockefeller's gifts up to $90,000,000, an amount exceeded only by that given by Mr. Carnegie, whose benefactions now total $115,000,000. But there is a large sized suspicion that Mr. Carnegie's money came from the people, and practically a dead certainty that Mr. Rockefeller's did.

Such enormous sums of money given away by individuals would under any other condition, impress the people with the generosity and beneficence of the donors. Unfortunately there is too much evidence that these millions have been squeezed from the very people to whom they are returned, and they therefore awaken very little gratitude.

Bourbon News does best printing.

A Monument To Dishonor.

It is hardly to be wondered at that the Madison Square Garden, one of the three really great buildings in the United States, is becoming an eyesore to New Yorkers. When the structure was erected, it was hailed as the crowning achievement of one of the foremost architects of the world and at once took rank as one of the three "monuments" of the country, the two others being the Capitol at Washington, and the Boston Public Library. Stanford White built the Madison Square Garden, and the things he did and the ruin he accomplished in the magnificent tower make the wonderful pile an object of aversion, to most New Yorkers. Some of them do not hesitate to say that the tower was actually designed with the object in view to which it was put, and in any event it is indeed a "monument," not to White's talent, but to his infamy.

We suppose there are very few newspaper readers who are not familiar with the story of Evelyn Thaw, the girl-wife of the young fellow who killed Stanford White, and we are inclined to think that the very great majority would acquit Thaw on her story alone. That Stanford White was a human vulture, preying on young girls, was known in one way or another by everybody who knew anything about the man, but that he was capable of descending to such depths was not realized until the horrible truth was laid bare. For there are very few who doubt Evelyn Thaw's tale. They cannot believe that she could make such a story out of the whole cloth.

Returns To His Class.

Mr. Hanks, the President's friend, who had discovered a mare's nest in the statistical department of the Interstate Commerce Commission, has retired from his chosen field of labor and will return to "high society, high-balls and golf balls," for which perhaps he is better fitted.

Not Much Reform.

Frank O. Briggs has been elected Senator in place of Dryden from New Jersey. Some of the Republican members of the legislature, although afraid to vote for Dryden, determined to stick to the corrupt Republican ring for Briggs is chairman of the Republican state committee, which of course is part of the Dryden machine. Not much reform in this, is there?

Strong Army For Cuba.

The Militarization of the delicate republic of Cuba has been ordered by Gov. Magoon with the imperial addition of compulsory service. President Roosevelt's plan is evidently to bolster up the government with a strong army, so that during and after the election the kickers can be coped with. The colored patriots there will find as hard a row to hoe as the negroes here do, when it comes to holding office under a Republican Administration.

One Refused To Lie Down.

It was very sweet to see the Presidential Lion lie down with the Senatorial lambs over the settlement of the kind of investigation there should be over the Brownsville affair, but from the published accounts of the last Gridiron dinner the Lion evidently has not got one of the Lambs inside of him, for Senator Foraker let out yells that could be heard a mile when the Presidential mastication was attempted.

Threatened A Panic.

President Roosevelt's proposed onslaught on Congress for more railroad legislation has been postponed until a more propitious political occasion. The frenzied financiers threatened to bring on a rich man's panic if the President persisted in his anti-corporation campaign and he desisted. What a power Wall street is with its untold millions that even Presidents of the most strenuous type fear it.

A Republican Patriot.

That noted Republican patriot, Harri-man, the railroad man, charges the California fruit growers the same freight to New York as to Europe, so consumers in the Eastern states pay as much as the foreigners do although they are thousands of miles nearer the point of production.

To Waterproof Shoes.

Castor oil, applied with a stiff brush to the welt stitches of shoes, will render them proof against water. Only a little of the oil should be used and it should be rubbed in well. Castor oil is preferable to beef tallow for this purpose as the tallow leaves traces of white on the shoes which does not look well.

The Limit of Life.

The most eminent medical scientists are unanimous in the conclusion that the generally accepted limitation of human life is many years below the attainment possible with the advanced knowledge of which the race is now possessed. The critical period, that determines its duration, seems to be between 50 and 60; the proper care of the body during this decade cannot be too strongly urged; carelessness then being fatal to longevity. ## ON BOARD THE FLIER

By Marion Benton

Copyright, 1906, by E. C. Parcells

"We'll take those three seats. I suppose it's the best you can do. Lawrence, you sit there. No, no—on this side. There's a draft on that side."

"But I want to see the river," said the elderly man querulously and with a gesture akin to throwing aside a detaining hand, though his florid and overdressed wife had not laid so much as a finger tip on his arm.

"I tell you there's a draft on that side," she said sharply.

"Well, you don't want to sit in a draft either," persisted her husband.

"No; Emily can sit there. She is young. Drafts won't hurt her."

David Marston raised his paper suddenly to hide the smile that would come. He was sitting on the drafty side, too, right behind the chair in the parlor car which had raised the discussion. He, too, wanted to see the Hudson, the Palisades and other points of interest of which he had read and which he was enjoying for the first time.

"Where is Emily?" asked the husband, now settled unwillingly in the chair selected for him.

"She's making sure that there's a nice man in the baggage car to look after the dogs. She'll be along in a minute."

By this time David Marston was not the only passenger interested in the domestic drama. Every man and woman in the car had laid aside paper or book, roused to attention by the piercing tones and dominating bearing of the woman. The shrill speech might have been forgiven on the plea that the husband was evidently very deaf. The manner was less forgivable. Newly acquired riches were stamped all over the tightly laced, middle-aged figure. The characteristic face, due to much electric massaging, spoke of hours spent with beauty experts. Her frock, wrap and hat shrieked, "Paris!"

Evidently the couple were going back to New York after a brief stay at their lodge in the Catskills, for the limited had stopped at the small town close to fashionable mountain fastnesses on special orders.

"You don't think anything will happen to Emily trying to cross the platform?" asked the man anxiously.

"It's a vestibuled train!" shrieked his wife. "I told her to stay until all three of the dogs had been properly chained. You remember the time we came—Oh, there she is!"

There was much craning of necks as the third member of this interesting party came through the narrow passageway around the drawing room. Her advent promised further entertainment to travel bored passengers. Only one of the latter did not crane his neck. He simply sat staring at the girl, his hands gripped hard on the arms of the chair.

She was a slender, refined looking girl, dressed in black from her dull calfskin ties to her stiffly tailored traveling hat. At her throat and wrists were fine linen bands. Marston recalled with a shudder that a maid who had opened the door for him at a fashionable Denver home had worn just such a black frock with white bands.

The girl carried a bundle of canes, umbrellas and golf sticks. As she tilted them in the corner beside the elderly man she said something to him which he seemed to hear, though she did not follow his wife's example and raise her voice. He settled back with a contented air.

"There's your chair, Emily," said the woman, waving her hand across the aisle. The girl turned, stepped across the aisle, looked at Marston, caught chair, which she wheeled so that her back was turned squarely upon him.

By this time David had recovered thought and speech. He rose, deliberately walked in front of the girl and extended his hand.

"Don't tell me that a mere trifle like a beard makes me unrecognizable, Emily. I should have known you even if you had dyed your hair."

The girl's hand lay limply in his, then she pulled herself together and withdrew it.

"Oh, I knew you at once. But the shock—"

"Precisely. It was a shock to me to find you with them."

The gesture was slight, but Emily Hunt knew what he meant, and her cheeks crimsoned.

"I can explain—"

"Let me turn your chair around so we can talk," Marston suggested, and a moment later they sat side by side, facing the river bank, their backs to Miss Emily's employer, who sniffed in baffled curiosity and gazed their way through a jeweled lorgnon.

"Oh, the story is short enough," said Emily bitterly. "Selling dabs and teaching youngsters in a Colorado town and making good with your brush in New York city are entirely different propositions. I saw it was starvation or real work and so—"

"Being companion to a woman of her caliber is real work, eh?"

"She is really very kind at heart, and Mr. Maguire is just lovely to me."

At this juncture Mr. Maguire was shaken with a violent coughing spell.

"Emily," exclaimed Mrs. Maguire sharply, "where's the cough medicine?"

But Emily Hunt was already digging into her employer's bag.

Deftly she poured the medicine and turned to bring a glass of water. Marston was at her heels, his own drinking cup filled to the brim.

"Thanks, Mr. Maguire took such a dreadful cold while we were at Grotton lodge."

The invalid was recovering from the procyon and there was nothing for Emily to do but introduce David to her employers.

Mr. Maguire extended a trembling hand. Mrs. Maguire raised her lorgnon.

"From Chicago? In pork, I suppose?"

David's eyes twinkled even as Emily Hunt's cheeks colored.

"No, not exactly—in the law for pork men."

Emily bit her lips and, returning to her chair, stared hard at the flying scenery.

"Forgive me, Emily, but I simply had to do it. She is impossible."

"But you are in the law?"

"And for men in pork. I am going to Europe on my first big commission."

"I am so glad you have found success," said Emily in a calm voice, though her heart beat suffocatingly. She might have helped him to find it, but now he was going to Europe for a mighty corporation, and she was a companion, the most despised and inadequately paid personage in the Maguire retinue.

"Emily, ring for the porter and order clam broth for us all from the buffet car."

"I don't care for any, if you will excuse me, Mrs. Maguire. I'll order for two."

"Nonsense!" said the dominating Mrs. Maguire. "A cup of hot broth will do you good. You're looking a bit white this afternoon, and we can't afford to have you sick on our hands now, with Maguire on the edge of pneumonia."

The piercing tones ran the length of the car, and there was smothered laughter up and down the lines. With crimson cheeks, Emily touched the button, but when the waiter arrived it was Marston who took the matter in hand and ordered a dainty luncheon.

Mrs. Maguire admitted that for a man "in pork" he knew how to order. It annoyed her that she could not communicate this discovery to her husband. Later she was to learn that her husband had been at the town meeting splitting in sort to Emily, who had brought Mr. Maguire an evening paper picked up at Poughkeepsie.

Emily did not seem to hear the patronizing remark of her employer. Her mind had leaped forward to that moment when the train should pull into the Grand Central depot. Then she and the Maguires would enter the carriage held in waiting by liveried servants, and Marston would go his self made independent way. When she returned to her chair, the dull foggy dusk was settling down on the river. Pretty soon on the broad six track way trains loaded with suburbanites would be shooting past them, suburbanites going home to cottages and bungalows all their own, where women who had never dreamed of artistic careers waited for them.

The porter received Mrs. Maguire's curt comment on poor gas with abject apologies.

"Suthin's sure wrong, but we can't locate the trouble, but we'll soon be in town," he said and hurried on. He knew the Maguire type.

Emily started. Marston's hand was on her arm, not gently or as a reminder that he deserved her attention, but in a masterly, determined clasp.

"Emily, do you think for one minute I am going abroad and leave you with that—that sort of woman? I've got to sail in the morning. There is not much time, but you can get frills and frocks in Paris, and when we come home, if visiting art centers abroad has roused your ambitions once more, I'll have you study with the best!"

"I don't want to study; I have no ambitions; I just want—"

Marston bent very close to catch the last word—"you."

"Emily, get a rug for Mr. Maguire," exclaimed Mrs. Maguire so sharply that the dozing passengers all woke up. Then as the girl leaned over to pick up the fallen rug Mrs. Maguire whispered harshly:

"I guess you forget where you are?"

"No," replied Emily happily. "I've only just found out where I belong. Mr. Marston and I are going to be married tonight and sail for London in the morning."

Mrs. Maguire gave vent to an exclamation that roused her husband to frightened wonder and made several men in the farther end of the car laugh aloud.

The little bride in chair 11 leaned over and touched her husband's hand.

"Billy, dear, I believe there's a little story going on right under our noses."

Her husband patted her hand tenderly under cover of the friendly dusk.

"Wouldn't be surprised, sweetheart, and all I've got to say is I hope that the young man is the sort who will not consign Emily to a drafty seat."

"I hope he is just as dear and good as you are."

And down in the front of the car Marston and Emily Hunt sat gazing out into the night, too happy for words.

Origin of Kleptomania.

Kleptomania is occasionally induced by continued and close application to the study of a particular subject. A singular case was recently reported from Germany. A well known professor was found to have transferred to his own private collection many of the valuable butterflies of which he had charge in his official capacity. The existence of mental derangement was clear from the facts that came out in the course of the investigation afterward made by the museum authorities.

It was found that the professor had often sent his wife out all day to catch butterflies, so intense was his passion for these insects. On one occasion the professor, while hunting a butterfly, was nearly run over by an express train. At another time he fell into a river, and once both he and his wife fell into a pond.—Manchester Guardian.

Chewing and Dyspepsia.

The lean dyspeptic, taking a mouthful of chop, chewed it interminably.

"Forty chews," he paused to say, "for every bite." And his jaws began to grind again.

"You make me laugh," his companion, a physiologist, returned. "Meat requires little, if any, chewing. You must have wasted a lot of chews in your time."

"Go on!"

"It's true. Vegetables require chewing, for they are dressed largely by the alkaline mouth juices, but meat is digested by the acid stomach juices, and to chew it more than enough to make it go down easily does harm instead of good. The mouth alkalis, admixing with it, hinder the stomach acids' work."

"Chew vegetables indefatigably, my friend, but let your meat slip down unground."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

The Word "Idiot."

"Idiot" is a word with a curious history. In Greek "idiotes" began by meaning a private individual, as opposed to the state or to a state official; then it meant a nonexpert or layman and finally an ignorant man or an awkward fellow. It was left for English to carry the meaning further to mental deficiency. In "Piers Plowman" an "idiot" is an ignorant person, and as late as 1698 it could mean a person who knew only one language. Wyclif and Jeremy Taylor used it in the sense of "layman" and the latter also in that of "private person." And a professional "fool" or jester was at one time an "idiot" too.

The daughter of the house had just returned from boarding school. Her finishing branches had made her a little sensitive.

"Is your father out in the wood shed splitting wood?" the caller asked her.

"The best remedy I can prescribe for your indigestion, madam, is Green's August Flower. I know of several other physicians who prescribe it regularly."

Indigestion is making an awful record as a cause of sudden deaths. It is beating heart-failure in its ghastly harvest. You read in the papers daily of apparently healthy and even robust men being suddenly attacked with acute indigestion after enjoying a hearty meal, and of their dying in many cases before a physician could be called in.

This should be a warning to you who suffer with regular or periodical attacks of indigestion. If these unfortunate victims of acute indigestion had taken a small dose of Green's August Flower before or after their meals they would not have fallen a prey to such sudden seizures. August Flower prevents indigestion by creating good digestion. It also regulates the liver, purifies the blood and tones up the entire system in a natural way.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Is not a secret or patent medicine, against which the most intelligent people are quite naturally averse because of the uncertainty as to their harmless character, but is a medicine of known composition, a full list of all its ingredients being printed in plain English on every bottle wrapper. An examination of this list of ingredients will disclose the fact that it is non-alcoholic in its composition, chemically pure glycerine taking the place of the commonly used alcohol, in its make-up. The "Favorite Prescription" of Dr. Pierce is in fact the only medicine put up for the cure of woman's peculiar weaknesses and ailments, sold through druggists, that does not contain alcohol and that too in large quantities. Furthermore, it is the only medicine for woman's special diseases, the ingredients of which have the unanimous endorsement of all the leading medical writers and teachers of all the several schools of practice, and that too as remedies for the ailments for which "Favorite Prescription" is recommended.

A little book of some of these endorsements will be sent to any address, post-paid, and absolutely free if you request same by postal card or letter, of Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Don't forget that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, for woman's weaknesses and delicate ailments, is not a patent or secret medicine, being the "Favorite Prescription" of a regularly educated and graduated physician, engaged in the practice of his chosen specialty—that of diseases of women—that its ingredients are printed in plain English on every bottle wrapper; that it is the only medicine especially designed for the cure of woman's diseases that contains no alcohol, and the only one that has a professional endorsement worth more than all the so-called "testimonials" ever published for other medicines. Send for these endorsements as above. They are free for the asking.

If you suffer from periodical headache, backache, dizziness, pain or dragging down sensation low down in the abdomen, weak back, have disagreeable and working catarrhal, pelvic drain, or are in distress from being long on your feet, then you may be sure of benefit from taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Laxative is the best laxative and regulator of the bowels. They invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. One a laxative; two or three a cathartic.

"Tuned" Lightning.

Poulsen, the Danish inventor, known as the Edison of Europe, has made some wonderful strides in the development of electricity during the last year, and he is now out with the prediction that "tuned lightning," one of his new inventions, will make possible fleet ocean liners, without steam or any other visible means of generating power; airships furnished with wireless energy, and telephone and telegraph stations connected by wireless ether waves only.

At a remarkable demonstration in London lately, Poulsen succeeded in lighting a series of arc lamps without any wire, simply by means of his new and marvelous energy, which first passed through his own body. By means also of his wonderful electric waves sent into the atmosphere he fused a piece of copper suspended in midair without contact with wires or conductor of any kind. Thus it can be seen that by means of properly installed generating stations Poulsen will soon be able to effect electric lighting at great distances; and this absolutely without wires.

Modern warfare will undergo a complete revolution, when the Poulsen generating stations come into working order. If he can light a town by wireless energy conveyed through the air alone, it will be a simple matter to explode at long range an enemy's mines, or even to burn up ships and armies. But in addition to this he promises wireless trans-Atlantic telephones before long, the doing away of the present system of wireless telegraphy by means of the spark system, and airships darting across the sky minus the heavy motors which makes them impracticable at the present day.

Fated To Be Unlucky.

A down pour of troubles came to Jerry Thomas, who recently lost all his household goods in a freight wreck near Pierce, Kan., and who, shortly afterward, learned that a land agent had stolen the cash he'd saved to buy a farm in Indian Territory, where he was bound. When asked if he was in trouble, Thomas said: "Trouble? There's my goods going up in smoke. I've been ruined by a sharper, in my car my wife is having a fit, at the last station my daughter eloped with a lightning rod agent, this boy here dropped the lunch box out the window and I've lost my tickets."

Boy Convicted Of Murder.

Oscar Napier, who lived on a farm near Abila, Ia., was convicted of murder last week and sent to the reform school, until he shall arrive at the age of 21 years. He was charged with the killing of Frank Adam, a playmate.

On the day of the shooting, little Oscar and his brother Louis, 17 years of age, went to the home of a neighbor. Louis left his gun standing against a tree while he went into the house. The boy picked up the lead weapon and as playing with it when it was discharged, the lead entering the body of Frank Adam a playmate, and causing his death within a few hours. Oscar declares he had no intention of killing the boy and that the discharge was accidental. The witnesses, who caused the conviction of the boy, were two little girls, aged seven years. They declared the two boys had a quarrel and that Oscar shot with the intention of killing.

The Coffee Boys Sent To Reform School.

Judge Frank Bullock, of Lexington, sent Ben Coffee, aged 16, and Sim Coffee, aged 13, to the Reform School until they are 21 years of age. These boys are well-known in Paris, and for a number of years were continually in trouble here. They were charged with burglary. Another brother, Henry Coffee, will be tried on the same charge later.

Building Committees Meet.

At a meeting of the Building Committee of the School Board, President R. P. Dow, C. Arnsperger, and Dr. Frank Fithian, and the Committee appointed by the Council, Mayor O'Brien, D. C. Parrish and T. C. Woods, immediate action was taken for the erection of the new school building. Superintendent George W. Chapman was present and advised with the joint committees.

It was practically decided to issue bonds of the City of Paris for a sum aggregating $30,000, which, together with $19,500 received from the insurance companies, would give a building fund of $49,500.

It was decided to ask the various architects to estimate on a building two stories high, to contain an auditorium located on the first floor, sixteen school rooms, music room and laboratory, to cost approximately $40,000, leaving $9,500 for furnishings, including heating apparatus and other contingencies.

They hope to have the new building ready for occupancy by next fall.

"Under Southern Skies" Tomorrow Night.

One of the most successful plays to be presented in our city this season is "Under Southern Skies" which will appear at the Grand on Wednesday evening, February 20th. "Under Southern Skies" is one of the largest and most expensive dramatic companies now traveling, as the company numbers twenty-seven people, twenty-three of whom appear in speaking parts, and every piece of scenery used in the production is carried with the company. "Under Southern Skies" is now in its sixth season having had five phenomenally successful seasons. "Under Southern Skies" is from the pen of Lottie Blair Parker, who also wrote "Way Down East," and it is as true and interesting a picture of the South as that now famous play is of New England.

LOTTIE BLAIR PARKER,
Author "Under Southern Skies."

The story of the play is a very strong and interesting one, and is one that is peculiarly southern. Its characters are distinct types of Southern people, many of them being highly diverting. A Hallowe'en celebration and pumpkin dance are among the most attractive features of the performance.

Straight Talks on Patent Medicines

The "Rexall" Remedies deserve confidence.

As all these remedies are grouped under one name, they must succeed or fail together. There must be no weak links in this chain. One unworthy remedy would mean disaster to the entire plan. If you, for example, purchased the "Rexall" Cough Cure and were not cured by it, how could we expect you to place any faith thereafter in the "Rexall" Dyspepsia Cure or any other member of the "Rexall" family?

You can understand, therefore, why such anxious care was given to finding and choosing the remedies to which the name "Rexall" was given. We have admitted none to this circle until our committee of experts had been convinced by investigation and test that it was the best remedy known to medical science for the ailment it aimed to relieve.

Who should know better than the leading thousand druggists of this country what are, and what are not, efficient medicines?

Remember, the success of our enterprise depends on the merit of each individual remedy. Our reputation, which is our very business existence is at stake. Can you doubt, that in buying a "Rexall" Remedy, you are buying the best that science and experience can give you?

Here are three prominent members of the "Rexall" family:

REXALL "93" HAIR TONIC

The famous Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is composed in chief of Resorcin, Beta Naphthol and Pilocarpin.

Resorcin is one of the latest and most effective germ-killers discovered by a science, and in connection with Beta Naphthol, which is both germicidal and antiseptic, a combination is formed which not only destroys the germs which rob the hair of its nutriment, but creates a clean and healthy condition of the scalp, which prevents the lodgment and development of new germs.

Pilocarpin is a well-known agent for restoring the hair to its natural color, where the loss of color has been due to a disease of the scalp. It is not a coloring matter or dye—it produces its effect by stimulating the scalp and hair follicles to health and active life.

This combination of curatives mixed with alcohol as a stimulant, perfects the most effective remedy for hair and scalp troubles known to-day.

Per Bottle, 50c.

REXALL DYSPEPSIA TABLETS

The remarkable success of Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets is largely due to the new and successful method of manufacture, whereby the well known properties of Bismuth Subnitrate and Pepsin have been combined with carminatives and other agents.

Bismuth Subnitrate and Pepsin are recognized by the entire medical profession as specifics for acute indigestion or chronic dyspepsia.

The Pepsin used is manufactured under a new process which develops its greatest efficiency. Pepsin not only supplies to the digestive machinery one of the most important elements of the digestive fluid, but exerts a tonic influence on the glands which secrete the other elements.

Carminatives add properties which promptly relieve the discomforts caused by undigested food.

The combination of the whole makes a remedy absolutely invaluable to any man or woman suffering from dyspepsia—and not only a remedy, but a cure which works by gradually rebuilding and stimulating the glands which perform the digestive functions. Package, 25c.

CHERRY JUICE COUGH SYRUP

A new idea in Cough Syrup. This preparation owes its efficiency to the presence of Wild Cherry, Vinegar Squills, Boneset, Horehound and Syrup.

All of these have been known for a hundred years as remedies for coughs and hoarseness.

In Rexall Cherry Juice Cough Syrup, all of these remedies have been combined by a process of manufacture that has blended them into a perfect medicinal harmony whereby the characteristics of each support and reinforce the others.

The pathological properties of each ingredient does its own particular work in easing the inflamed membranes, loosening the phlegm and setting up a condition of health in the bronchial and nasal passages.

One spoonful will relieve the inflamed membranes and temporarily stop the cough. One bottle will work a cure. It is exceedingly pleasant to the taste—children like it. Per Bottle, 25c.

Look for this Rexall Guarantee on each package: "This preparation is guaranteed to give satisfaction. If it does not, come back and get your money. It belongs to you, and we want you to have it."

TURNED THE JOKE.

The Way a Bridegroom Got the Laugh on His "Funny" Chum.

Under the thin disguise of harmless fun many an unpardonable prank is played upon newly married couples. It is refreshing to hear of an occasional instance in which the "joke" reacts on the joker. A young man and his bride, who had just been married in a western town, were starting on their wedding journey. They had managed to reach the train in safety despite the showers of rice and old shoes.

Just as they had taken their seats in the car one of the bridegroom's chums came hastily in to bid him goodbye. As the young husband extended his hand the friend snatched a handcuff round his wrist.

The groom had been suspecting a trick of some kind, and before the practical joker could play a similar trick on the bride he found the other handcuff snapped round his own wrist. He was chained to the happy bridegroom himself.

"That's a good one on me, Harry," he said, with a sickly kind of smile, "but I'll have to ask you to come to the door with me and get the key to these doors from the fellow outside that's got it. Hold on, conductor, just a minute!"

But the conductor, whose quick eye had taken in the situation, refused to wait. He gave the order for starting, and the train pulled out. It was a through train and made no stop for the next fifty miles. Before it stopped, however, the brakeman, with the aid of a sharp file and a hammer, succeeded in releasing Harry. The practical joker meanwhile had had to pay full fare for the fifty miles and still had his fare home to pay.

The Return.

"I believe," said the cheery philosopher, "that for every single thing you give away two come back to you." "That's my experience," said Phamley. "Last June I gave away my daughter, and she and her husband came back to us in August."

It often takes a lot of common sense to get a man out of trouble a little nonsense got him into.—Beaver (Okla.) Herald.

"See here, kid, you's needn't be comin' round here no more tellin' me yer loves me! Don't yer suppose I know dat you've been lettin' that Clancy girl chew yer pepsin gum the whole week?"—New York World.

Fine Engraving.
The News has an engraver who does the finest of work in the very latest style on short notice. A box of engraved visiting cards would make a nice Christmas present. Leave your order with us.

They Had Nerve.

A small stable within a stone's throw of the Lexington police station, it was discovered Tuesday was a rendezvous of the Mitchell gang of horse thieves whose leader, Dave Mitchell, was killed by Chief of Police Hughes at Cyrtiana on Monday.

I have a large stock of the famous Block Gas Lamps. Lamp and mantle complete, only 50 cents.
J. J. CONNELLY.

Inoculation For Gambling.

A Paris doctor claims to have discovered a serum which when injected into the veins of persons who have the puerile craze will cure them entirely. A plunger who is once inoculated with this anti-gambling serum will never again have a desire to speculate. The serum is obtained from the dried blood, taken from the veins of persons who have lost in bad speculations.

THE EDIFYING SOLDIER.

Sketch of One of the Great German Toy Warehouses.

The Troedel market is on a little island in the heart of the old town of Nuremberg. Along the north branch of the river is an old, low eaved house with a little darkling doorway. When you have got so far you are met by a little old man—a rusty little man who looks as though he were made of metal—who leads you into the great mysterious warehouse of toys.

Round all the walls they are ranged—guns, cannons, motors, steamships, trumpets, sabers, and everywhere the soldiers. How many millions of metal soldiers have marched away from the Troedel market not even the rusty old man could tell you—mighty articles of pewter and tin.

Hundreds of regiments, of battalions, of divisions, are drawn up on the shelves, waiting for the day when they shall be sent out into battle. And with a kind of pride the rusty old man says, "They are edifying soldiers."

That is the German way of putting it. What it means is that each army illustrates a battle or a campaign—the war of Troy, the campaigns of Alexander, the exploits of Coeur de Lion, the war of thirty years, the siege of Orleans, the victories of Napoleon, the battles of 1870 and (the one I liked best) that desperate battle in which a tiny tin hero with gleaming teeth rough rode it up San Juan hill. In a word, the edifying soldiers teach history, geography, strategy—Vance Thompson in Everybody's.

EATING IN PUBLIC.

The Varied Sorrows of the Critical Man Who Dines Out.

What chance has the diner out of being completely happy? The mere actions of eating and drinking are neither pretty nor conducive to showing people at their best. It is really a most uncouth sight to see a man or a woman stooping food. The necessity of being polite at the same time makes it uncomfortable as well. No sooner have you got into conversation with a pleasant woman than the soup in your mustache stops all inspiration. She despises you for your play with your napkin, and your mustache is out of shape. And who can feel that the evening is going to be what he hoped when he realizes that his shirt front is smeared with some relic of the meal?

Indeed, dinner parties are really a struggle between eating and talking, a struggle which does not always end, as do most things, in the survival of the fittest. As one can't speak with one's mouth full and first hunger must be appeased, conversation and eating go on rather as a game, the one person whipping up some food while the other is speaking and then in his turn speaking in order to enable his partner to get some nourishment. To talk or to eat might be a sensible question at the beginning of dinner, but it is not one likely to be asked. One is seldom sure which is least worth sacrificing, the food or the conversation. How much simpler it would be if we fed apart and indulged in conversation afterward.—Macmillan's.

Shingling a House.

And I looked and beheld seven carpenters shingling a house. They were hauling up bundles of shingles that had been lying in the rain for two days and nailing them on one by one. In a few days the shingling will be done. Then the painter will come along with his ladders and brushes and stains, and $200 will be spent by the owner of the cottage to have it thoroughly dabbled. And in a little while the sun will shine, and all the shingles will buckle, some up, some down, until the cottage will resemble a frizzled chicken. And there will be leaks and cursings and lamentations. Now, brethren, why not be sensible in these small matters? Painters are not needed at all in a case of this kind. Keep your shingles dry; buy a few barrels of stain; soak the shingles in the stain and throw them on the grass to dry; then nail them to the clapboards. They will never buckle, they will never leak, and you have saved $300.—New York Press.

Forest Air.

There is a general impression that the humidity of the air is greater in the woods than in the open fields. This is contradicted, however, by the result of observations made in Germany. It was found there that the humidity, both relative and absolute, was slightly greater in the open than in the woods, and this was true equally in the morning and in the afternoon. As to the temperature of the air among the trees, it was a trifle higher than in the open in the morning and in a more marked degree in the afternoon.

A Comparison.

Thomas Sheridan, the father of Lady Dufferin, once displeased his father who, remonstrating with him, exclaimed, "Why, Tom, my father would never have permitted me to do such a thing!" "Sir," said his son in a tone of the greatest indignation, "do you presume to compare your father to my father?"

Dickens' Interest in Inns.

"Pickwick" is the very Odyssey of inns and travel, for the youthful Dickens had traversed England as a reporter, and in "Pickwick" alone no fewer than fifty-five inns, taverns, etc., in London and the provinces are mentioned and often described at length.—London Chronicle.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. ## WEIGHT OF PLANETS.

It is the Mass of the Body That Counts With the Astronomer.

If a ham weighing thirty pounds were taken up to the moon and weighed there, the "pull"—the attractive force of the moon upon the ham—would amount to only five pounds. There would be another weight of the ham for the planet Mars and yet another on the sun. A ham weighing thirty pounds at New York ought to weigh some 800 pounds on the sun's surface; hence the astronomer does not speak of the weight of a planet, because that would depend upon the place where it was weighed. But he speaks of the mass of the planet, which means how much planet there is, no matter where it might be weighed.

At the same time we might, without any inexactness, agree that the weight of a heavenly body should be fixed by the weight it would have in New York. As we could not imagine a planet in New York, because it may be larger than the earth itself, what we are to imagine is this: Suppose the planet could be divided into a million million million equal parts and one of these parts brought to New York and weighed. We could easily find its weight in pounds or tons. Then multiply this by a million million million, and we shall have a weight of the planet. This would be equivalent to what astronomers might take as the mass of the planet.—Current Literature.

A Use For His Hat.

A funny incident of a drawing room meeting was recently noticed. A grave looking gentleman, with an unusually tall hat, entered and, seeing no rack in the hall, placed his hat on the floor just behind the door. Pretty soon another grave man entered, with a large, dripping umbrella, and, peering anxiously for the usual receptacle, saw in the gloom the hat resting on the floor. His eyesight was probably poor, for he mistook it for one of the new umbrella holders, and in it he deposited his dripping umbrella. This was an example for those who followed, and in a short time the solemn looking hat was stanchly holding a dozen umbrellas. At the end of the meeting the water in the hat was an inch in depth.—London Tit-Bits.

FRENCH SENTIMENT.

The Way It Classifies the Greatest Men of the Nation.

The Petit Parisien in 1906 conducted a very interesting plebiscite, the object of which was to ascertain who, in the opinion of its readers, were the ten greatest Frenchmen of the nineteenth century. More than 15,000,000 votes were given, and the result was that Pasteur came out at the top of the poll with 1,338,425 votes. The next were Victor Hugo, who received 1,227,103 votes; Gambetta 1,155,672; Napoleon 1,118,034; Thiers 1,039,453; Lazare Carnot 850,772; Curie 851,107; A. Dumas pere 850,602; Dr. Roux 603,941 and Parmentier 498,863. Immediately following were Ampere, the electrician; Brazza, the explorer; Zola, Lamartine and Arago.

It will be observed with interest how large is the proportion of scientific men in the number of those who, in the opinion of Frenchmen, occupy the highest places in the records of the country. Napoleon is only fourth, though Pasteur heads the list, and Curie, Roux and Parmentier, the chemist who introduced the culture of the potato into France, are also honored, while Ampere and Brazza are not far behind. Literary men and statesmen dispute with the scientists for the highest distinctions, and the national sentiment of France is evidently eclectic.

Animals That Are Trained.

The animal trainer paused in his midnight supper. "It is strange," he said, "how training increases an animal's value. I can buy a young lion for $100, train it and sell it for $500 afterward. Take the group I performed with tonight—three lions, three tigers, two leopards, four bears and four boarhounds. They are all young adults in the pink of condition, but untrained they wouldn't be worth more than $1,500 or $2,000 at the outside. Yet the boss was offered $60,000 for them last week. The training sets the price, and no wonder. It took four years to train this group of mine, and, though there are only sixteen animals in it now, no less than seventy had to be tried and discarded before we got together the sixteen we wanted."

THE BOMBMAKER.

He Makes an Apparently Harmless Letter a Deadly Machine.

So expert are bombmakers nowadays that an apparently harmless letter may kill any person who tries to open it. A piece of cardboard is cut to a size which, when folded over, will fit into an ordinary envelope. The four corners of this are slit into narrow strips. Fulminate of mercury is spread over three of the slits, and the sheet is folded and fastened together. Projecting from each side of the folded sheet is a little metal strip, or detonator, glued to the cardboard in such a manner that the envelope cannot be opened without striking one of them. Upon meeting this slight resistance the hand moving the paper cutter instinctively pushes harder, and the result is an explosion that either kills or maims.

The easiest bomb to construct is set in operation by simply turning it upside down. It is usually a good sized cracker box, lined with paper and half filled with a mixture of chlorate of potassium and ordinary sugar. Into this a bottle of a powerful acid is introduced. The remainder of the space in the box is filled with scraps of metal. Then the lid is soldered on.

All that is then necessary is to place the box upside down at the spot in which it is to explode. The acid eats quickly through the cork of the bottle and comes in contact with the chlorate of potassium. As a result of the chemical combination which takes place there is a terrific explosion.—Chicago News.

THE ESPOUSAL.

Ancient Ceremony of the Mutual Promise of Marriage.

The first part of the matrimonial office was anciently termed the espousal, which took place some time prior to the actual celebration of marriage. These espousals consisted in a mutual promise of marriage, which was made by the man and woman before the bishop or presbyter and several witnesses.

After them the articles of agreement of marriage, called tabulee matrimoniales, which are mentioned by Augustine, were signed by both persons. After this the man delivered to the woman the ring and other gifts, an action which was termed subarrhation. In the latter ages the espousals have always been performed at the same time as the office of matrimony in all the churches abroad, and it has long been customary for the ring to be delivered to the woman after the contract has been made, which has always been in the actual office of matrimony.

The ring is a special token of spousage. In some of the old manuals for the use of foreign cathedrals before the minister proceeds to the marriage he is directed to ask the woman's dowry—viz, the tokens of spousage—and by these tokens of spousage are to be understood rings or money or some other things to be given to the woman by the man, which giving is called wedding or covenanting, especially when it is done by the giving of a ring.—New York Tribune.

Knew Him at Once.

There are other sure ways of bringing a man to mind besides mentioning his name. Among the candidates who were sent from Princeton to a Philadelphia church was one young man whose language was of the sort which dazzles and delights the younger members of a congregation and sometimes pleases the elders as well. In this case the committee were besieged to ask for the young man again, and they consented, but unfortunately the man to whose lot it fell to write the letter had forgotten the candidate's name. Nothing daunted, he wrote to one of the seminary professors: "Please send us that floweret, streamlet, rivulet, cloudlet, starlight and moonbeam young man again. We've forgotten his name, but we've no doubt you'll recognize him."

"We do," wrote the professor. And the desired candidate was sent and subsequently was called to the parish.

To Extract Essence From Flowers. Procure a quantity of the petals of any flowers that smell sweet and fragrant. Take thin pieces of muslin or fine linen and after having dipped them in good Lucca oil or Florence oil place them as layers between the petals. Sprinkle a small quantity of fine salt on the flowers and put a layer of linen and a layer of flowers alternately until an earthen vessel or wide mouthed glass bottle is full. Tie the top over with oil silk or parchment, then lay the vessel in a south aspect in the heat of the sun, and in fifteen days, when uncovered, a fragrant oil may be squeezed away from the whole mass.

Stage Dressmaking.

Our plays are for the most part over-dressed, with extravagance, vulgarity and inappropriateness obtaining in place of artistic fitness. The new costumes have to some extent frequently undone the results of undress rehearsals, the actresses no longer representing the drama as they did before the dressmaker sent home their gowns, while the variety of their impersonations is swamped by the uniformity of their fashions.—A. W. Pinero in Costume.

Inconsistency.

"What is inconsistency?" asked the curious one.

"Well," responded the wise one, "it is that spirit which moves a woman whose sleeves stop at the elbow to scold her husband because he hasn't any cuffs on."—Chicago News.

J. C. Ellis, representing the American Tobacco Company, bought Thursday of W. W. Mitchell 20,000 pounds of tobacco at 10 and 5 cents per pound.

Judge Lewis Apperson, of Mt. Sterling sold his fine bluegrass farm, containing 200 acres, near Sharpsburg, to W. H. Ratliff. Price $74 per acre, equal to cash. Possession given the first of March, 1907. The farm is an excellent one.

The Interior Elevator Company, of Minneapolis, Minn., sold 560,000 bushels of durum wheat, the other day, to an importing firm in Russia, which is buying in this country on account of the famine conditions at home. The shipment, part of which is already en route, will go to Riga and thence be distributed through the Russian area, where there have been crop failures.

Thos. McClintock & Sons, of Millersburg, bought of Frank Royce, of Bath county, one team of mules, price $500; of Mr. Carmack, of Madison county, four mules, $800; from Ripley, Ohio, two mules, $400.

Oscar Johnson, of Millersburg, sold in the horse sale at Lexington, his promising 2-year-old Moco colt, for $2,100, to Scott Hudson, of Atlanta, Ga.

Over seven hundred acres of the 1907 crop of tobacco in Nicholas county has been signed to the Society of Equity.

The Department of Agriculture has announced that the average yield of wheat in the United States is 12 bushels per acre. This is the average product, but there are as many acres yielding less than 12 bushels per acre as there are yielding more. The greater part of wheat in this country comes from the small farms, in spite of all that is said of the big wheat fields of the Dakotas.

Charles Ingram, of Mason county, who pooled his crop of tobacco with the Society of Equity and sold it to the American Tobacco Company, is being sued by the Equity for violation of his contract.

Friday Was Hangman's Day.

Four men were hanged according to law in Kentucky Friday. In each case the Court of Appeals had reviewed the trial in the lower court and had decided that no error had been committed. All of the cases were passed to the Governor, who fixed the date for the execution of the court's sentence. The following were the men hanged:

Guy Lyon and Polk Fletcher, at Russellville, for assault on Mary Gladder, Jesse Fitzgerald, at Barbourville, for murder of Mrs. Robert Broughton, Ben Huffaker, at Eddyville, for the murder of a convict, B. Shirley.

All of the executions were without special incident except that of Fitzgerald, who was hanged without the use of a black cap.

Delegate Selected.

The Bourbon County Farmer's Institute met Friday and selected delegates to the State Farmers' Institute which meets at Shelbyville, Ky., for a three days' session February 26, 27 and 28. President Thomas Henry Clay, Sr., presided and the following list was agreed upon: Thomas Henry Clay, Sr., J. Frank Clay, J. A. LaRue, W. A. Thomson, May Goff, A. S. Thompson, R. H. Burris, James H. ### Republican Convention.

The Republican State Central Committee, at a meeting held in Louisville, decided to hold a State convention for the nomination of a State ticket on Wednesday, June 26, in Louisville. Mass conventions to select delegates to the State convention will be held on Saturday, June 22. State Senator A. S. Bennett, of Ohio county, was elected Secretary of the Committee to succeed Thomas L. Walker, of Lexington, who resigned on account of his recent appointment as postmaster at Lexington. They acquiesced in the decision of the Committee, however, and promised to be good. None of the politicians were willing to discuss the Governor's race, hence it was impossible to get a line on the probable nominee for that office.

Louisville Gets State Fair.

After accepting checks, notes and other securities for the payment of $165,000, the State Board of Agriculture Friday passed a formal resolution permanently locating the Kentucky State Fair in Louisville. No definite selection of a site for the grounds of the fair was made, but instead a resolution was adopted granting further time to the Committee on Sites to secure options on the four tract which have been discussed and to make a report at a subsequent meeting. R. E. Hughes, secretary of the Louisville Commercial Club, was elected secretary of the State Fair Association to serve until March 1, 1908, at a salary of $2,500 a year.

Judge Stout Grants Injunction.

Judge Robert L. Stout, of the Woodford Circuit Court, has sustained the injunction of the Woodford County branch of the Board of Control, American Society of Equity, against the Continental Tobacco Company, and its Woodford county agent, V. F. Ziegler. The contention was over the crop of tobacco of M. F. Blackburn, which the Board of Control claims to have been pledged to them, and the decision restrains Blackburn from selling to the Continental Company.

It also restrains the Continental from buying the tobacco of Blackburn and fifteen other parties whose names are on the same pledge with Blackburn, who claims he never signed his tobacco to the Equity Society.

More Local Option Petitions Filed.

Two more local option petitions were filed in the County Court Saturday afternoon. The first one filed was by Mr. Wm. Myall and Mr. J. S. Wilson, representing the temperance people, and is as follows:

"We the undersigned legal voters of and in Bourbon county, Kentucky, being a number in excess of the twenty-five per cent of the votes in the said Bourbon county, at the last general election, respectfully petition the County Court of Bourbon County, Kentucky, to order a poll to be opened in each of the said precincts in said county on the 18th day of April, 1907, or on such day as the court may appoint not later than 25th day of April, 1907, to take the sense of the legal voters of said county on the proposition whether or not spirituous, vinous, malt, or other intoxicating liquors shall be sold, bartered or loaned in said Bourbon county and that this law shall apply to druggists also.

"We further petition for such orders and proceedings upon the subject of special registration as may be necessary or proper."

Signed J. T. Martin and nearly one thousand and six hundred others. After Judge Dundon had made the necessary endorsement required upon filing a petition, Mr. J. S. Wilson offered five dollars for the pen used in the filing, the offer was accepted and the Judge told him he could settle with the clerk of his Court for same.

Shortly after the filing of the above petition, Attorney J. J. Williams, representing the anti-local option faction, filed the following petition:

"The undersigned of the City of Paris, Bourbon County, Kentucky, a city of the Fourth Class, and being equal in number to twenty-five per cent of the votes cast at the last city election in said city, petition you to make an order on your order book directing an election to be held in said city on the 18th day of April, 1907, the same day an election for said purpose is held in Bourbon county, directing the Sheriff or other officer of said county, who may be appointed to hold said election to open a poll at each of the voting places in said city on said date, for the purpose of taking the sense of the legal voters of said city, who are qualified to vote at elections for county officers upon the proposition whether spirituous, vinous or malt liquors shall be sold, bartered or loaned therein."

Signed T. F. Brannon and more than three hundred others. The same parties filed petitions about two weeks ago asking for an election to be called on April 11th, 1907. The petitions will be acted upon by County Judge Dundon on Court Day, March 4th.

Two Innocent Men Pardoned.

On the strength of affidavits of the attorneys of Guy Lyon, who was hanged at Russellville Friday the two men Drake and Woodruff, who had been implicated by Lyon in the killing of Deputy Sheriff Coffee, of Christian County, were pardoned by Governor Beckham Saturday. The affidavits made a statement to the attorneys that neither man was guilty, nor even present when the crime was committed. They had received life sentences.

Announcement.

Mrs. George M. Jenkins, of Baltimore, Md., has announced the engagement of her daughter, Miss Mary Clark Jenkins, to the Rev. R. Stanley Litsinger, of Paris, Ky., rector at St. Peter's Episcopal church.

Miss Jenkins is a member of the old and prominent Eastern Shore family of the name. Mr. Litsinger was formerly of Fairfax, Va., and is the popular new rector of the Episcopal church in this city.

Loses A Finger.

The Ashland Daily Independent says: "Master Carter Graham Byron, the bright young son of Attorney O. F. Byron, met with a bad accident yesterday, that resulted in the loss of a portion of one of his fingers. He was coming out of Powers' jewelry store, with his father, when he caught his left hand in the door, mashing the joint off of the third finger. The little fellow bore the pain like a soldier, and will no doubt be out with his friends in a day or two. At any rate, they hope so, for he is a great favorite, and the youngsters miss him while he is 'shut-in.'"

The little fellow referred to above is a grandson of Mr. O. P. Carter, Sr., of this city.

Horrible Death.

Mrs. Jenny Strong, wife of Calloway Strong, a prominent farmer, five miles north of Jackson, Ky., committed suicide by burning early Sunday morning.

About 6 o'clock Mrs. Strong went out in the yard back of the house and, after saturating her clothes with kerosene oil, set fire to her clothing and the flames were four feet above her head before she was discovered. There was no chance to extinguish the flames and her body was burned past all likeness to a human being. Mrs. Strong had been somewhat demented for several months. She leaves eight children.
